West Penn Speakers Give Quotarians Hints For Saving Electrical Appliances

Charleroi Quotarians received valuable information at their meeting last night at the Elks Club, when two representatives of the West Penn Power Company were present as guest speakers and demonstrators. After serving of the usual dinner, Miss Sara Savage and Joseph Gross of the West Penn, gave the ladies hints on how to make their electrical appliances last for the duration.

During a business session, plans were made for the joint meeting of the Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis and Quota clubs to be held December 3 at the Elks. This event is to be known as the Service Clubs' Back to Church meeting.

The ladies also made plans for their annual Christmas party to be held December 10 at the Elks club. Miss Ellen Clark and her program committee will arrange entertainment for the public event.

Appeal Made By Charleroi Girl Scouts For Cooperation In Grease Collection

A fine job of collecting grease is being done by Charleroi Girl Scouts, who are appealing to housewives to save their renderings and any grease they may have. Grease has become one of the vital necessities of winning the war, since it contains material used in making nitro-glycerine.

After collecting the grease, the Scouts sell it for four cents a pound, two of which go into the Scout Treasury and two cents to Red Cross work.

The person saving the grease is asked to strain it through a clean cotton cloth, and keep it in the refrigerator or some other cold place, as it loses its value when kept warm.

Anyone having grease they wish to donate, may contact Mrs. Dague by calling 582, and a Scout will call for it.

Mrs. Russell Test and Mrs. Russell Metz are in charge of the local Scouts, while Mrs. Merrill Dague is chairman of the grease collection.

MUSICALE AT HOWE CHURCH TOMORROW

Tomorrow evening, a Musicale will be held in the Howe M. E. church of Long Branch, the program scheduled to begin at 7:30.

Featured on the program will be the Sutherland Sisters, Grace Elaine and Glenda, who will render violin selections and sing. A silver offering will be taken, and after the program a cafeteria lunch will be served in the dining room of the church.

Proceeds realized from the event will go toward a Bible fund which furnishes Bibles for the boys in service from Long Branch.

NEW PASTOR WELCOMED BY MONONGAHELA FOLK

Rev. and Mrs. Samuel E. Brown were welcomed to the First Methodist church of Monongahela Tuesday evening by approximately four hundred members and friends of the church, at a reception held in the social rooms of the church.

The affair also marked the twentieth wedding anniversary of Rev. and Mrs. Brown, and in commemorating this event, the latter was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses. A musical program was presented during the early part of the evening, with Miss Luella M. Scott at the organ and the choir singing an anthem. A soprano solo, "How Amiable Are Thy Dwellings" was then rendered by Mrs. J. Warren Keck.

John G. Noble presided at the program, and gave the address of welcome to the new pastor and his wife. Rev. Brown responded in a brief talk. Greetings from the Monongahela Ministerial Association were extended by Rev. James R. Beamer, pastor of the Grace Lutheran church. Short talks were also heard from Monongahela's pastors and their wives, including Rev. and Mrs. Beamer, Rev. and Mrs. Raymond Walls of the First Church of Christ, Rev. and Mrs. Carl K. Boyer of the First Baptist church, and Rev. and Mrs. Ross M. Haverfield of the First Presbyterian church. Introduction was then made of the church official board, and last, the congregation as a whole.

Following the program in the sanctuary, refreshments were served in the dining room by a committee from the Woman's Society of Christian Service, headed by Mrs. Jesse E. Sutman.

"JAPAN" TIMELY TOPIC FOR BELLE VERNON CLUB

"Japan, Or Know Your Enemies" was the theme of a meeting of the Junior Auxiliary of the Belle Vernon Woman's club, held Tuesday evening in the library of the North Belle Vernon high school.

Because it was so timely, the program was a very interesting one, relating to the club members by the way of talks, a general picture of the Japanese situation. Mrs. Grace Prosba gave a talk, using as her subject "The Country of Japan", followed by another talk by Mrs. Donald Pender, "The Emperor of Japan", and another by Miss Mary Delia, "The Japanese Language". Miss Teresa Andreis then reviewed the book "Inside Asia" by John Gunther.

Musical entertainment featured a piano solo by Mrs. Lawrence George and two vocal selections "Little Yaller Dog", and "Alice Blue Gown" by Peggy Jane Malpass, accompanied at the piano by her sister, Eleanor Lou Malpass.

President of the auxiliary, Mrs. Eliza Ackinclose was in charge of the meeting, and Mrs. Grace Prosba, defense chairman, asked the cooperation of club members in the salvaging of tin cans and silk hose. Mrs. Prosba also stressed the urgent need for additional air raid wardens in the upper borough. Mrs. Thomas Rascoe gave a financial outline of the club and Mrs. Hazel Hixenbaugh gave a resume of future meetings, including the annual Christmas party to be in charge of Mrs. Dean Loveland.

In closing the program for the evening, Mrs. Ackinclose gave a brief talk, emphasizing the importance of giving real thanks this year.

BUSY PHYSICIANS

War demands will hit the medical profession about as hard as it will any other line of endeavor, an item shows. It is estimated that the armed services will take one-third of the country's medical men, compared with about one-fourth of the general practioners absorbed by the British armed forces. Hospitals may be hit parti-

Already many physicians have been called to duty in the armed services. Of course some places are hit harder than others, for there may be some localities that have more young men practicing medicine than others. In Charleroi one physician has been called to the colors and there is always the probability that others may be called.

The shortage has not yet reached alarming proportions, according to one authority, who said: "The situation is not desperate yet, but we are finding it difficult sometimes. Out of a total of 6,000 men, the municipal hospitals have lost some 2,000. How many more we will lose in the next six months is anybody's guess."

Of course, much has been said about the shortage of nurses. This, too, is causing considerable difficulty especially to hospitals where the service of nurses is needed continually. But none can deny that nurses are needed in the armed forces as well as ar physicians. It is assarted that about 45,000 out of the nation's 170,000 medical men have now entered the armed services.

It was recently estimated that the effective medical manpower of the country was 120,000 doctors, with an additional 56,300 of those well on in years.

those well on in years. Of the 120,000 it was said 40,000 were in the armed forces, leaving 80,000 for civilian needs. The service will need an additional 30,000, or a total of 70,000 for an army of 10,000,000, leaving 50,000 from the effective list for the civilian population. With an army of ten million, the 70,000 doctors would have an average of 143 men under the care of each against 1,141 civilians for each of the 100,000 doctors, including old and retired physicians, not in the armed forces.

WAR PRODUCTION GAINS

We read somewhere that war production is gaining, even though it is at a slower pace. Well, it is something to know that we are catching up with ourselves and we hope that the gain will be even more perceptible as time goes on, for the United States and its Allies need all the equipment they can get their hands on in ordr to defeat the Axis nations.

One writer says that the opening in North Africa of the first American offensive against Germany and Italy found an American war production both good and disappointing, depending on what standard one adopted for it. It was good because, says one writer, at the end of the first year of her intensified war effort, the United States was turning out more war material than any other country in the world, whether ally or enemy.

But our production was disappointing, the same writer continues, because in the last five weeks it had not shown the same advance over the preceding months, as, for instance, September had shown over August. The overall total was a little better but in some major categories it was not so good. This slowing down of the rate of increase was, to a large degree, inevitable.

The slowing down of production by raw-material shortages had been long expected and predicted. In October, apparently, it happened. As the production of raw materials is stepped up production will go up again. The latter part of this month and the whole of December, in fact, will again record an increase of the output of finished products. The total is running to gigantic figures, but it will have to continue doing so in order that enough material may be supplied the United States fighting forces as well as the Allies that need the equipment. And those at home are working harder to see that the equipment is furnished.

MAIL PACKAGES NOW

It is almost too late to mail packages to service men who might be outside the borders of the United States at this writing, but it is not too late to send packages to service men or persons who may be within the 48 states, and the advice of the post office authorities is that the packages be sent now, so that they will be sure to reach their destination before Christmas Day rolls around.

Of course it is posible that many gift packages will be sent to relatives or friends within a few miles of the local post offices, but even in such cases it is advisable that they be sent within a reasonable time as due to heavy traffic they may be late getting to their destination. In cases where the mail is to go long distances it should by all means be sent at once.

Of course the government will make every effort to get gift packages to soldiers by Christmas. It must be remembered though that in some instances it takes weeks, perhaps even months, for them to get there. But the fact remains that it is the government that has requested the early mailing of packages, not any particular organization, so it behooves everyone to comply with the wishes of the authorities and get them in the mail as soon as possible.

A church organization protests against Army drilling on Sunday. Well, the war began on Sunday and it was on Sunday that Hitler invaded Russia and it was on Sunday that the Japs so treacherously attacked Pearl Harbor. War pushed church affairs rudely aside.

Donald Nelson tells us that we shall have to cut down our standard of living. In other words, we'll have to pinch before we can punch.

War Bonds and Stamps would be the best possible Christmas gifts this year. This is a good suggestion and should be adopted by many people.

We hear only about football when it is being practiced.....Now, if people would only be that way about religion.....It is proverbial that the rain falls on the just and the unjust alike.....Only, it's our luck to have the unjust borrow our one and only umbrella.. A prospective country school teacher and her girl friend hired a horse and buggy to visit the members of the school board.

Everyman (explaining) — You won't have any trouble with this horse. He's perfectly gentle. But be careful not to get the rein under his tail.

When they returned he asked whether the horse had proved entirely satisfactory.

Prospective School Teacher — Oh, perfectly. We did have a couple of showers, but my friend held her umbrella over his tail.

THE LIGHTS OF LITTLE TOWNS

A little town at twilight in late summer of the year
Is a perfect place to loiter, if you happen to be near;
You can see the maples bending over avenues of shade,
And the lawn where little children happily in daytime played.
Main Street windows now are lighted, shining with a friendly glow,
Swinging street lamps gleam asudden all along a leafy row;
And in the gloom that deepens ere the autumn landscape browns,
Symbols of all earthly freedoms are the lights of little towns.

Mark Twain once consented to watch a friend play golf, though he refused to play himself. The friend was a duffer. Teeing off, he sent clouds of earth flying in all directions. Trying to hide his confusion, he said:

Dub Golfer—What do you think of our links here?

Mark Twain (wiping dirt from his lips with his handkerchief)—Best I ever tasted!

MANY JAPANESE PLANES DOWNED BY AIR FORCES

American, Australian Ground Forces Continue Advance Against Buna

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Somewhere in Australia, Nov. 19—(UP)—Allied air forces destroyed 18 Japanese planes in the New Guinea and North Solomons area and attacked enemyheld towns in Portuguese New Timor, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

American and Australian ground forces simultaneously continued to advance against the Japanese base of Buna on the eastern coast of New Guinea and were supported constantly by planes which bombed and strafed retreating enemy troops.

Twin - engined North American Mitchell bombers, escorted by Curtiss Tomahawks, staged a surprise attack on the Japanese airdrome at Lae, about 150 miles up the coast from Buna. In two runs over the field, the Allied formations destroyed five bombers and six fighters on the ground. Two more bombers and a fighter were destroyed by attack planes in a later sweep. One Japanese Zero fighter attempted to intercept the Allied planes and was shot down.

Other medium bombers attacked the Japanese airfield at Buin in the Northern Solomons Monday night. They destroyed three parked planes and caused large fires and explosions.

A formation of heavy bombers raided enemy shipping in the harbor of Rabaul, New Britain Island, the same night and scored two direct hits on a large merchantman.

Carol Calls Indictment Of Rumanians As Unjust

MEXICO CITY—(UP)—Carol II, exiled former King of Rumania, denounced as unjust and ridiculous the indictment in Detroit of three Rumanians accused of plotting to get him into the United States and make it possible for him to obtain $80,000,000 in frozen funds.

Although Carol did not mention him by name, he indirectly blamed Carlos Davila, former Rumanian minister to the United States for the indictments.

MEN RUNNING FAR AHEAD OF WOMEN IN WHOPPERS FOR LIARS' CONTEST

BURLINGTON, Wis. —(UP)— Women may be matching strides with men in war production, but they can't hold a candle to the 1942 male output in the annual contest of the Burlington Liars' club to choose a world's champion liar.

Take it from club president Otis C. Hulett, it's still a man's world here at this pallacium of whoppers.

"Women may be tops in some phases of the current picture," he conceded, "but they haven't stepped up production for us." His appraisal was based on a preliminary survey of thousands of entries already in hand to be judged for the enthronement of New Year's day a new champion to succeed R. C. Cross of Wausau, Wis.

Hulett was a little disappointed too, that none of the Waacs and Waves, whose function is to release men to fight from military and civilian, administrative posts, had volunteered an entry in the Liars' contest. He still was hopeful, though, that they would rise to their opportunity to pinch hit for the scores of service men now pre-occupied with fighting in foreign fields.

Entries From Europe Drop

The club's response from Europe, formerly thriving, has dwindled to practically nothing, since the United States entered the war.

"England is about the only country over there we can get mail from," he explained. "I'd say, off hand, that we have perhaps a half-dozen entries from overseas."

To demonstrate the caliber of feminine competition, Hulett cited a couple of entries at hand for the 1942 judging:

Mrs. L. H. Laabs, Weatherford, Tex., told how a rare snowstorm in her home state created an impromtu blackout.

"The flakes were so big," she said, "that as each one fell it blacked out a street light which normally makes it as bright as day in our bedroom."

"Yellow-Toes" Don't Last

Dorothy Mae Probach, Route 2, Genoa, Wis., took a rap at the Japanese with a play on symbolism in her entry to show the durability of the white race.

She said that the Burlington Liars' Club responded to a Red Cross roll call by contributing its collection of "yarns" to knit socks for the soldiers.

"Now there were yarns from the white, brown and yellow peoples," she said. "The toes of the socks were knit in yellow and the rest was finished off in either brown or white. The yellow toes were out in a hurry, but the whites had so much backbone that it took several months before they even got shiny."

The current champion won with a tall tale about the never-never land of Unadilla where a bottle of hair tonic poured into a stream made the fish so anxious to get a shave that Cross and his companions caught more than they could eat by setting up a barber pole on the bank with a copy of the Police Gazette. All they had to do was stand beside the barber pole and yell, "Next!"

HERE ARE THE THINGS SERVICE MEN WANT

One you may never have thought of . .

• You can't send service men even the small personal gifts you ordinarily gave. And bigger things take up too much space; soldiers and sailors have to "travel light." But their letters ask the "folks back home" for these: cigarettes, home-made cake, pen and pencil with clips; wallets with insignia. And it's amazing how many ask for Noxzema. Here's why:

Men in the service are out in all kinds of weather. They get windburned, sunburned, chafed. Feet get sore, hands chapped; shaving in cold water becomes a major problem. They want Noxzema because this one jar, that takes so little space, brings such quick relief these 5 ways:

1 SHAVING IRRITATION. Noxzema softens tough beard, helps protect sensitive skin, even when shaving with cold water. It's a grand brushless shave, too; can be used without water.

2 TIRED, BURNING FEET. A little Noxzema rubbed in after a day's march brings wonderful relief; it's greaseless; won't stain socks or bed clothes.

3 PAINFUL CHAFING. Rough work clothes often bring on chafed spots; Noxzema gives quick, soothing relief, helps promote quicker healing.

4 SUNBURN AND WINDBURN. Noxzema cools, soothes, relieves badly sunburned and windburned skin.

5 CHAPPED HANDS, FACE, LIPS. Noxzema is medicated: it helps heal the tiny cuts in rough, chapped skin.

Give some man in the service a treat he'll thank you for! Get a jar of Noxzema at any drug store and include it in your next package.

SPECIAL OFFER! For a limited time, you can get the big 75¢ jar of Noxzema for only 49¢ (plus tax). Don't miss this offer!

During and after an air raid alarm

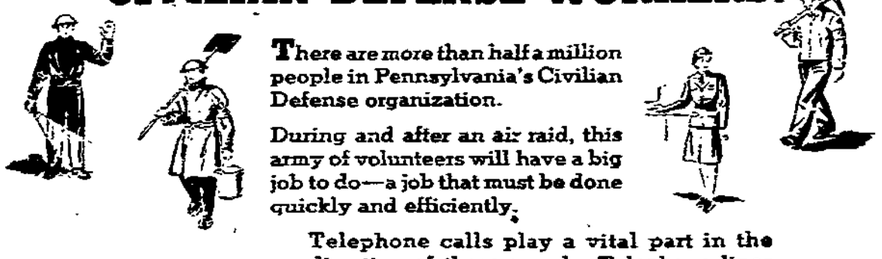
CLEAR THE WIRES FOR PENNSYLVANIA'S 550,000 CIVILIAN DEFENSE WORKERS!



There are more than half a million people in Pennsylvania's Civilian Defense organization.

During and after an air raid, this army of volunteers will have a big job to do—a job that must be done quickly and efficiently.

Telephone calls play a vital part in the direction of these people. Telephone lines must be kept clear so that these all-important calls can go through.

So do not make telephone calls during an air raid alarm or for some time after the all-clear signal. This is essential for the protection of every home and family. AND IT IS JUST AS IMPORTANT IN A TEST BLACKOUT AS IT IS IN A REAL AIR RAID!

The purpose of test blackouts is to perfect civilian defense. So in an air raid test, as in a real air raid, follow the rules which have been made for your protection.

FARM LABOR RATES AT ALMOST RECORD LEVEL

HARRISBURG, Nov. 19 — Farm labor rates in Pennsylvania at the time of the latest survey were the second highest on record, according to Secretary John H. Light of the Department of Agriculture.

According to Federal government figures compiled from Federal-State Reporting Service surveys, the wage per month with board advanced from $34.75 to $41.75 within a period of one year while the rate per month without board jumped from $51.25 to $65. The rate with board was exceeded in 1923 but the latter rate represents an all-time high. The daily rate of pay with board advanced within the year from $2.25 to $2.70, which is also a new high mark and the rate per day without board went within the same period from $2.85 to $3.45 which was also exceeded by 15 cents in 1923.

The supply of labor in this State at the time of the last survey was less than half of normal and the demand slightly in excess of normal. The supply was the lowest in the northwestern and southwestern parts of the State which is said to be probably due to the location of an ordnance plant in Crawford County and defense industries in Pittsburgh and vicinity. The supply and demand situation is reported to be critical in all sections of the State and is aggravated in all areas where new defense plants have been located.

WHISTLE INADEQUATE FOR DONORA SIREN

DONORA, Pa. — The steamboat whistle which was secured last week from Captain Hiermaux at Charleroi, was tried out at Donora as an air raid siren but Chairman Harry Teeter said that it was inadequate for the borough needs. He suggested that the new fire whistle tested at the mill would serve the purpose of an alert signal. The whistle will be returned.

BOYS USED HIS CAR NIGHTLY

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — (UP) — From now on, Dayton Keplinger of Fort Wayne probably will regard a low-reading gas gauge and 17-year-old boys with equal suspicion. Police have uncovered the fact that two boys have been using Keplinger's car nightly for weeks, putting in gas if they had money and if not riding on Keplinger's fuel. Then they carefully replaced the car in the garage. The boys were caught when an officer stopped them to point out a burned-out tail-light.

MEATLESS DAYS COVERED NATION IN WORLD WAR I

WASHINGTON —(UP)— New York's meatless Tuesday, inaugurated recently, is nothing new, the whole country observed a meatless Tuesday during the first World War.

Records at National Archives in Washington show that chefs in hotels and dining cars, and housewives from coast to coast began featuring special war menus, using meat substitutes in place of pork, beef and mutton.

Employees in eating places wore special buttons and sleeve emblems to remind customers of meatless Tuesday and to encourage the doctrine of the "clean plate" — it was patriotic to eat everything.

Then, as now, New York reported its inhabitants took meatless days with a smile. Food authorities in Kansas City reported restaurants never had trouble with patrons who ordered liberal meal days for "beefless" and steak for dinner.

600 Ship Crews Ate Less

Pennsylvania proclaimed that beef could be served only at noon. Pork was not eaten on Saturday in some communities. Firemen in Washington started raising gardens to alleviate the meat shortage by growing some of their own meat substitutes. Suppers were beefless on all railroads. Among the first to limit their consumption of meat were 600 merchant vessel crews, to prove even physical laborers could do without meat.

During World War I meatless days were put in effect because the Allies and our armed forces were taking an ever larger percentage of our supply. In addition, there was so much congestion in transportation that meatless days were a method to cut down freight. In four months the program was nation-wide, from Oct., 1917, to Feb., 1918; 140,000,000 pounds of beef were conserved, according to Food Administration records.

In March, 1918, the meatless days were discontinued because a drought in the West made it necessary for cattlemen to sell their stock. There was also a large amount of lamb on the market.

How important the Hoover food administration considered food conservation is disclosed by some of their old slogans: "Food will help win the war" — which has been revived by the Department of Agriculture — "Every hog is of greater value to winning the war than a shell," and "Serve by saving."

"A Meatless Meal a Day"

A home card of 1918 contained this message: "Hang this card in your kitchen. Problems: Allies — soldiers. Solutions: Wheat, beef, pork, butter, sugar. Two wheatless days, Monday and Wednesday; one meatless meal every day."

Another card sent out by the food administration listed the following ways to serve by saving: Save wheat, meat, fats, use substitutes, eat transportation, eat everything.

Wheat was even more a problem than meat because our allies and armed forces made a heavy drain on our wheat supply. The surplus of wheat during this war has made "wheatless days" a problem of another era.

Meatless days contributed to the growth of the school hot-lunch program. Mothers absorbed in war work in 1917-18 planned the heavy meal at night, and had only a light meal for children at noon. Schools became aware of this fact, and in Massachusetts and New York a hot lunch program was instituted in some districts.

Tuesdays were chosen as meatless days because Tuesday is a mid-week day, half-week from Friday, which is fish day among many Americans.

Boy Aged Sixteen Admits Robberies

WASHINGTON, Pa.—A 16-year-old boy, who escaped from Thornhill Industrial School last June, arrested by County Detectives John Pendervilla and Jerry Cummins in a rooming house at Avella last Thursday, admitted staging two robberies in the district when questioned by authorities yesterday.

District Attorney George T. Cummins said the boy, Mike Kudzy, whose home is at McKeesport, admitted breaking into Breezy Heights Tavern on Route 21, near Independence, and also the garage of Lester Morrison on Route 21, near Wolfdale.

Approximately $100 in cash, several small automobile parts and a pistol were stolen from Morrison's garage, it was reported. Small change and merchandise valued at $50 were taken from Breezy Heights Tavern. The revolver stolen from Morrison's was found under a bed mattress in the room where Kudzy was arrested, the county detectives reported, and some of the loot was secured.

Kudzy was questioned at Thornhill where he was remanded pending further disposition of the case.

community benefit without becoming a community burden the Tri-Cities Water Co. now is home-owned and home-sustained.

Own Debt Retirement

The company remains in its own debt service, under the supervision of the Authority, in relation to available income. There will be no changes in operation or rates. We own a great utility. Now it will begin to work for the community.

First of all it must pay for itself.

A coming generation will have lower taxes because of it. The forseeing property owner immediately perceives the acquisitional benefit.

Well, to get back to the original story, the Authority asked for information from Chester Engineers and got it. They were not buying a pig in a poke. "Let us see what we are bargaining for," they said.

Here is what Chester Engineers said in the first report. We quote verbatim:

"We find a fair estimate for appraisal of this property and business, as a going concern, at a figure approaching $3,000,000 on the basis of current labor rates and present cost of materials . . .

"Because the Authority can not possess any taxing power, the proposed acquisition of this water works cannot affect the tax duplicate or any borrowing power of the community, and all estimates or analysis herein have been prepared on the basis of a self-supporting transaction, ownership, operation, and ultimate retirement of bond debt.

"This question appears to present opportunity of a lifetime for your community and your proposal, is therefore, to be commended."

So, thus began a pilgrimmage into Charleroi's successful future.

"Just as it happened in the East, some neighbor will be wondering how it is that you are able to drive so much with your car and will report you. Upon investigation of such a complaint, it may prove embarrassing to you if you have some extra gas stored up in your basement or garage."

CRITICALLY HURT SHREDDING FODDER

BAVINGTON — Cree W. Culley, son of N. M. Culley, of Midway, is in critical condition in the Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, where his left arm was amputated following a fodder-shredding accident.

Culley was working on the August Leopold farm here, shredding fodder, and in some way apparently lost his balance and fell, his arm entering the shredder. A physician was called and took him to the Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, where his badly crushed arm was amputated.

His condition is said to be critical, due to shock and loss of blood. His mother died last January.
